

EasyCOV saliva test: Test efficacy confirmed

Biotechnology company SKILLCELL (ALCEN group) issued yesterday the results of a clinical validation trial conducted on the COVID-19 saliva test, EasyCOV, at the Montpellier hospital drive-through. SKILLCELL is part of a consortium developing and industrialising EasyCOV, alongside VOGO and CNRS laboratory SYS2DIAG.

The trial demonstrated a sensitivity rate of 88% and specificity of 99%, with an optimised thermal protocol enabling results to be obtained in just 40 minutes.

These results confirm EasyCOV's decisive advantages in the ongoing public health crisis: it is of high quality, comfortable for patients, faster, cheaper, relocatable, connected and does not require hefty investments.
